

Campden BRI Hungary Day Budapest, 12.12.2017.

On 12th of December 2017 a successful open day was organized in Budapest, where the NoAW project was introduced.

This event is organized annually and attracts participants from the Hungarian agricultural, food industry, retailers and policy-makers. Approximately 60 people participated on the event, where they got a general introduction about the objectives of the NoAW project during the poster session. The expected results and the benefits for potential users were also explained. The event was a great opportunity to create personal links and joint consultation with the Hungarian stakeholders.
