

Professor Maria LOIZIDOU is Head of the Unit of Environmental Science and Technology. Professor Loizidou has a 35-year technical and scientific experience on environmental issues and waste management. She has been teaching various Environmental Topics at undergraduate and postgraduate level and has been the leader and scientific responsible for over 150 National, European and International Projects related to environmental issues. Last but not least, she has over 400 publications in Scientific Journals and International Conferences.